

Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 03 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Milder but mostly cloudy today, then colder with showers tomorrow.

Today:

Murky with drizzly rain and hill fog at first. Becoming mostly dry with bright spells developing. Further rain may reach southern counties of Wales by late afternoon. Feeling much milder. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:

Mostly dry at first this evening but becoming increasingly windy overnight with showers developing, these turning wintry over the highest ground by the morning. Feeling cold but largely frost free. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Saturday:

A day of sunshine and showers, some heavy with hail and cold enough for snow over the higher mountains. Feeling cold in the blustery northwesterly winds. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:

Drier and sunnier on Sunday and still rather windy. Rain and hill snow on Monday, but brighter later. Possibly very windy by Tuesday with further rain. Feeling cold.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.